

TEEN STRINGS

Open to students ages 12-18 who play violin, viola, cello, bass, guitar, or piano.

Designed to serve the unique needs of accomplished teenaged string players, TEEN STRINGS furthers interest in music through educational, social, and performance opportunities.

What you'll do in TEEN STRINGS...

- Tour with the TEEN STRINGS ensemble
- Enjoy parties (pizza, games, music) and concert outings
- Perform for Cincinnati events and charities
- Explore a variety of musical styles in the Saturday Ensemble & Music Theory Program
- Come to a weekend musical "retreat" in the fall
- Make new friends from other schools, such as Walnut Hills, Ursuline Academy, SPCA, and more
- Perform with other teenaged string ensembles
- Give input on performance repertoire
- Benefit from intensive and positive private instruction

Schedule an audition today!
Contact Dr. Vincent Phelan
or Mrs. Elizabeth Council-Phelan at 513-231-3523 or info@suzukiproject.org.

For more information about
TEEN STRINGS,
visit www.suzukiproject.org!

ABOUT THE CORYVILLE SUZUKI PROJECT

Founded in 1995, the Corryville Suzuki Project (CSP) is a nurturing, non-competitive string music education program where children receive a high level of musical training, rooted in Dr. Suzuki's philosophy that every child can learn. The CSP program espouses this core value of the Suzuki philosophy in a very literal way by inviting children of every economic, racial, and social background to communicate, develop high-level skills, and begin friendships through beautiful music.